Adel Abdessemed transforms well-known materials and imagery into unexpected and charged artistic declarations, working across a wide range of media, including drawing, video, photography, performance, and sculpture. Pulling freely from a myriad of sources—personal, historical, social, and political—his visual language is simultaneously rich and economical, sensitive and controversial, radical and mundane. His art addresses the underlying effects of globalized society on the individual, often using his own personal circumstances as a point of departure.

Born in 1971, Abdessemed studied at the École des beaux-arts de Batna and the École des beaux-arts d'Alger, Algiers (1987-1994), before traveling to France where he attended the École nationale supérieure des beaux-arts de Lyon (1994-1998). He was an artist-in-residence at the Cité internationale des Arts de Paris in 1999-2000, and the following year at P.S.1 Contemporary Art Center's International Studio Program in Long Island City, New York. Now based in Paris and New York, the artist has also lived and worked in Berlin.

In 2008, Abdessemed joined David Zwirner, where he had his first American gallery solo exhibition, R/O, in 2009, followed by Who's afraid of the big bad wolf? in 2012. In 2013, he participated in the artist's third solo show with David Zwirner.

Adel Abdessemed: Situation and Practice

Texts by Jane Farver, Tom McDonough, and Pier Luigi Tazzi. Interview with Noam Chomsky by Adel Abdessemed

Published on the occasion of the artist's 2008 solo exhibition at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology's List Visual Arts Center in Cambridge, Adel Abdessemed: Situation and Practice featured a broad survey of Abdessemed's work including his "street acts" and several works created specifically for the exhibition. One of the new works on view was Practice zero tolerance (retournée), which presents the remains of an automobile, cast in clay, that was vandalized during the 2005 riots in France. This fully illustrated exhibition catalogue includes essays by List Visual Arts Center director Jane Farver; architectural historian Tom McDonough; teacher and curator Pier Luigi Tazzi; and an interview by the artist with linguist and philosopher Noam Chomsky.
